

Annotation

The gross agricultural output increased by 4,4 % in the observed year 2008 (at constant prices 1989). Increased yield of the crop output (especially considerably higher harvest of cereals, oil and fruit) were mainly caused by kindly climatic conditions. The gross production of livestock decreased due to decline in breeding of pigs.

The decline of the gross agricultural output at current prices is significantly affected by the decreased prices that were paid to agricultural producers for their products. The decrease of crop prices and price cut of slaughter cattle are the principal features for the year 2008.

The gross agricultural output (at constant prices) per hectare of farmland achieved 17 904 CZK in the year 2008 and increased by 4,5 % against the previous year. The gross agricultural output per agricultural worker rose by 4,8 % and achieved the amount 532 262 CZK; its level was affected by decrease of agricultural workers.
