INTRODUCTORY WORD

Dear users,

this first statistical data summary is designed for the general public and presents selected information on Prague that the Czech Statistical Office produces and provides to users.

Today, CZSO web pages are the main source of statistical data. Statistical data on each of 14 Czech regions are published on regions' web sites included in CZSO internet presentation. Virtually all standard data covering the whole Prague and its city sections can be found at www.praha.czso.cz where also all publications are presented.

The range of time series that are accessible under a link in the right menu at our web pages is being continuously enlarged:

- data on the population is available from 1919
- data on age structure of population of Prague from 1961 by five-year age groups were added in the right menu in the "Hl. m. Praha" link as well.
- time series on population of city sections (now 1991 - 2010) and on completed dwellings (now 1999-2010) were enlarged

We have plenty of information offered in English language: Statistical Yearbook of Prague (Numeri Pragenses), Lexicon of Prague and all time series on www.praha.czso.cz should be mentioned.

This year the extra part contains information on 140. anniversary of Prague Statistical Service establishment

Detailed overview of all published publications can be found on the last page of this brochure and at:

http://www.czso.cz/xa/redakce.nsf/i/edicni_plan_publikaci_hl_m_praha_na_rok_2011

This way we would like to encourage data users to get in touch with us. Contacts can be found on the last page of this brochure.

PRAGUE STATISTICAL SERVICE CELEBRATES 140th ANNIVERSARY IN THE YEAR 2011

“Statistics on Royal Capital of Prague” published in 1871 was the first statistical publication concerning the region of the Capital. The book presented mainly the census results of December the 31st, 1869 which is considered to be the first so-called „modern census“ running according to a legal act adopted by international institutions.
