

INTRODUCTION

The publication MUNICIPALITIES OF THE KRÁLOVÉHRADECKÝ REGION brought out already for the twenty three time and was prepared for our readers and users of the regional data in the Czech-English version. In this publication you can find the figures refer to 2024 and the territorial structure is valid as at 1 January 2026. The publication does not differ by its methodology and contents from those brought out last years. There are the municipalities in alphabetical order in the tables.

As at 1 January 2026 all 448 municipalities (including 48 towns) of the Královéhradecký Region were part of 15 administrative districts of municipalities with extended powers and 35 administrative districts of municipalities with authorized municipal office defined by act. As at 1 January 2026 there were changes to the territories of administrative districts of municipalities with extended powers when the municipality of Velký Třebešov was transferred from the administrative district of municipalities with extended powers Jaroměř to the administrative district of municipalities with extended powers Náchod.

No town or townlet have been made in the Královéhradecký Region in 2024 on the Act No. 234/2006 Coll., which modifies the Act No. 128/2000 Coll., on municipalities, the Chairman of the Parliament enacted new towns and townlets. Municipalities that became townlets from year 2006 are the thirteen followig: Černý Důl, Doudleby nad Orlicí, Častolovice, Nový Hrádek, Velké Poříčí, Machov, Mladé Buky, Podhradí, Mlázovice, Pecka, Velký Vřešt'ov, Žernov and Choustníkovo Hradiště.

As at the end of 2024, the Královéhradecký Region had 555,923 inhabitants, which is 5.1% of the total Czechia's population. The most populated by the territorial structure as at 1 January 2026 is the Hradec Králové District with 168,000 inhabitants. On the other hand, the smallest as for population is the Rychnov nad Kněžnou District and the Jičín District with 81,000 inhabitants. With its 117 inhabitants per square kilometre the Region is under the national average (138 inhabitants per sq km). Population density differs also one district from another being the highest in the Hradec Králové District (189 inhabitants per sq km) and the lowest in the Rychnov nad Kněžnou District (82 inhabitants per sq km).

This publication is constructed to two main parts. The first part contains data about municipalities of the Královéhradecký Region and the second part data by territories of districts, administrative districts of municipalities with extended powers and size groups of municipalities by population. Tables number 1.1 to 1.8 show basic territorial characteristics, areas, the number of population, basic demographic data, the number of businesses, unemployment, housing construction and table 1.9 turnout by type of elections. Tables 2.1 to 2.8 show data by districts, administrative districts of municipalities with extended powers and size groups of municipalities by population. Table 2.9 contains selected data on towns and table 2.10 data on administrative districts of municipalities with authorized municipal office. Table 2.11 gives overview of districts and their administrative districts.

Tables with townlets and list of regional publications prepared by catalogue of products 2026 are included.

We will also welcome your prospective suggestions and comments regarding the contexts of this publication, which you can adress to our CZSO, Information Services Unit Hradec Králové infoservishk@csu.gov.cz.