More detailed information is provided in the methodological introduction to the publication.

More detailed information is provided in the methodological introduction to the publication.
